horal worth is detected that building horacones subtime.

As a soldier, his brilliant and promising coreer was cut short. He had no opportunities to develop the great qualities of Lee, the prince of commanders. As a statesman he did not quite reach, perhaps the commanding stature of Calhoun, to whose work he succeeded. As an erator he may have lacked the impetuous fervor, of Yaneau, the guildid dealarm. erator he may have lacked the impetuous fervor of Vancey, the splendid declamation of Lannar. He surpassed them all in his majestic strength, the chaste beauty of his thoughts, and his thrilling earnesiness. But Davis was greater than them all, in that he combined them all. He was an accomplished soldler, a great statesman, and a consummate orator. He was the typical southerner of his day and of all times.

STANDS ABOVE THEM ALL

Around him stood that marvellous group-Lee, the flower of chivalry; Jackson, the genius of war; Toombs, the thunderer of debate; Benjamin, the jurist; Campbell, the judge; Eledsoe, the scholar; Hunter, the statesman-men fit to measure with the knightliest. Yet from the antage ground of history his sublime end lifts itself above them all. It is meet and fitting that the ashes of the great souls rest in Virginia's soil. Round him sleep the mighty ones who have gone before-soidlers who won American liberty, jurists who gave it per-American liberty, jurists who gave it perpetual form, statesmen who filled its flag with stars, and made it honorable throughout the world. Let Richmond be added to Mt. Vernon, Montleelle, and Lexington. The South has committed the keeping of his ashes to the mother of States and statemen. Let him sleep in Virginia, where every river whispers of confederate hereism, and every hill wife crimsoned with the soldiers' blood. Let him rest in Richmond, his capital, the city which he walled about with the pressts of the bravest of the brave. His memory is safe with you. You were semory is safe with you. You were faithful to the living, you will not forgot the dead.

In calmer years, when the last emeror of sectional feeling has burned out, and the last chord of love has gently bound the hearts of all Americans forgether, fathers will bring their little children to this spot, and tell the story of a pure, great man, who suffered for his people, and for the right, as they understood it; and how for this they loved him as they loved no other. Long as you noble river shall rell its tide to the sea it shall behold no man more kingly. "He was a very perfect, cantle knight." May the story of his life be sweet in days to come, and at last all men come to understand Jefferson Davis.

CAPTURED AT LAST.

Elmer Wertherholtz, Charged With the Murder of His Wife.

WOODSTOCK, VA., July 2.-(Special.) Elmer Weatherholtz, who has been wanted here since February 4th, for the murger of his wife at the home of Peter Myers, near Forestville, this county, on the morning of that day, was captured last evening at Harrisonburg by Chief-of-Police Foltz, who was dressed in citizen's clothes at the time. He was brought here this evening and lodged in fail. It will be remembered that on November 21st last Weatherholtz was lodged in fail here on the complaint of his wife for mistreating her, and he vewed be would kill her when he regained his liberty, but no attention was paid to the threat. On January 4th, the day being extremely cold and his cell being cold, Julier Wenger allowed the prisoner to go out into the corridor to the heat, and he, watching his chances, made heat, and he, watching his chances, made his escape by walking out.

Search was instituted at once all over the country, but Weatherholtz managed to elude the officers. On the morning of February 4th, one month after his escape from jail, while his wife was on her way to the barn from the house where six was from as a domestic, she was shot in the face and head by a very heavy charge of buckshot, and died instantly. The murders ship down from the hav-loft, and in of buckshot, and deal instantly. The mur-derer slid down from the hay-loft, and in so doing broke the weapon, leaving it. He made good his escape. No one saw him do the shooting, but the gun was one that Weatherboltz borrowed from his brother. Policeman Foltz has carned a reward of

THE CITY ON THE DAN. Death of a Prominent Business-Man.

The New Council. DANVILLE, VA., July 2.-(Special)-Beverly Sydnor Crews, of the foundry firm of Crews & Westbrook, and for many years prominent in business circles here, died yesterday of peritonitis; aged W years. Deceased was a native of Hallfax: was educated at the University of Virginia and at the Virginia Military Institute, and participated in the battle of New Market, with the Cadet Corps. He is survived by his second wife (nee Cornick, of Tennessee), and four chil-

The union of Danville and Neapolls be-The union of Danville and Nearolls became effective yesterday, and the Council of the larger city met and organized by electing Charles L. Holland president, instead of John H. Schoolfield. John A. Smith was re-elected Clerk and Auditor; N. F. Reid, Fire Marshal, was defeated for re-election by Samuel D. Womack, new Deputy Sergeant, and Dr. S. George succeeded Dr. R. B. James as City Physician. The other city officers elective by the Council were re-elected.

Berman & Goodfriend, clothing merchents, have assigned to S. Brafmam.

tian life. I have only to mention the one name—the name of Stonewall Jackson. (Loud applausa.)

"My dear friends, those of us who represent the generation that is fast passing away, whose locks are growing white, and who are beginning to stand upon the dividing line between the past and the eternal future, are looking to you to take our places. I know that your stand will be worthy, because you have inherited during all these years of your tuition the qualities of that men—the commander to whom I have already referred—and who as major brought the boys of the Virginia Military Institute to Richmond in 1861. (Applause.) Your record was made in the war. Live up to it; and, if you ever feel a spirit of cowardice—and I don't mean cowardice in battle, but that sort of cowardice which would quall when it would cause an effort, when it would cause blood, if it need be, to stand by the truth—remember that you are boys who were educated at the institution where Stonewall Jackson was. (Loud applause.) And now, my friends, I point to him, not only us a soldier, but as a chants, have assigned to S. Brafmam, trustes, Limbilities, $6,000, mostly local. Congressman Claude A. Swanson left

Round-trip from Richmond, only $3.50, via Richmond, Fredericksburg and Poto-mac railread. Apply to Richmond Trans-fer Company, 903 east Main street; Jef-ferson Hotel Branch, and Byrd-Street Sta-

RECEIVE DIPLOMAS.

Graduating Exercises of Virginia Milltary Institute at the Auditorium.

GENERAL GORDON'S ADDRESS.

He Holds Up Stonewall Jackson as an Example for the Students to Pattern-List of the Graduates and Those Who Achieved Distinctions.

Immediately after the United Confede

Christian man. And almost unequal as he was in the field, he was greater, infinitely greater, as a man and a Christian. (Cheers.) To him as a guide in life I point you, young gentlemen. Remember that Stonewall Jackson was never ashamed to say that he was a child of God and a follower of the Lord and and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Everywhere-in private, in public, or on the battle-field-Stonewall Jackson's hand was laid in the hand of God. Now, my young friends, remember that the grandest soldier in this world is the soldier who is ready to face death with the light of an unclouded countenance upon his brow, as ready to face death with the light of an unclouded countenance upon his brow, as bowing his head to the great captain of our salvation. Take him, young gentlemen, as your guide, and mankind will be blessed because you have lived." (Loud captages) applause.)

The List of Graduates.

2. A. S. Keen, Virginia. 4. G. M. Brooke, Virginia. DISTINGUISHED IN COURSE. GENERAL

L.E. B. Frain, Illinois.
Upon the recommendation of the Academic Board, the following degrees have been conferred in the several courses:

BACHELORS OF SCIENCE. Engineering Course-R. M. Morgan, Virginia; J. K. Sheppard, North Carolina. Chemistry Course-R. S. Spliman, Virginia.

General Course-E. B. Frain, Illinois.

The first Jackson-Hope medal has been awarded to Cadet R. S. Spliman, Virginia.

The second Jackson-Hope medal has been awarded to Cadet E. B. Frain, Illi-By command of Brigadier-General Shipp, Superintendent.

JAMES B. WALKER, Jr.,
Captain and Adjutant Virginia Military

CLASS DISTINCTIONS. The following list of class distinctions

THIRD CLASS.

Mathematics—1, E. B. Frain, Illinois; 2, J. K. Sheppard, North Carolina; 3, R. S. Spilman, Virginia; 4, F. B. Locker, Virginia; 2, J. K. Sheppard, North Carolina; 3, R. S. Spilman, Virginia; 4, F. B. Locker, Virginia; 2, J. K. Sheppard, North Carolina; 3, R. S. Spilman, Virginia; 2, J. K. Sheppard, North Carolina; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 3, J. K. Sheppard, North Carolina; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 4, V. A. Moneil, Virginia; 5, C. L. Williams, Louisiana; 6, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 4, V. A. Moneil, Virginia; 5, C. L. Williams, Louisiana; 6, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 4, V. A. Moneil, Virginia; 5, C. L. Williams, Louisiana; 6, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 3, J. O. Steger, Virginia; 6, H. D. Bacon, California; 6, H. D. Bacon,

French-I, H. Stockdell, Virginia, and H. Bruer, Virginia; 2, T. M. Fendell, Vir-ginia; 3, T. S. Triglesby, South Carolina Physics-I, I. F. James, Virginia; 2, T. Milton, Virginia; 3, A. F. Ryland, Virginia.

Engineering Course, Mechanics—1, G.
P. Marrow, Virginia; 2, H. Bruce, Virginia; 3, J. F. James, Virginia; 4, F.
Phinizy, Georgia.

Mathematics (calculus)—1, F. Phinizy,

Georgia.

Engineering-1, T. M. Fendell, Virginia;

2, J. F. James, Virginia.

Chemical Course, English Literature-1,

S. J. Hart, Virginia; 2, E. L. McGill, Virginia.

Zoology-i, T. Milton, Virginia; 2, W.
W. Ballard, Virginia.
Conduct, having no demerit for the year-C, M. Blackford, Virginia; T. M.
Fendell, Virginia; A. C. Freeman, Virginia; A. D. Hamilton, Virginia; H.
Hart, Virginia; E. L. McGill, Virginia; H.
B. Miller, Virginia; M. M. Mills, Virginia; F. Phinizy, Georgia; L. R. Soper, Virginia.

Lamar Fontaine, of Lyon, Coahoma county, Miss., who in his day and general county, Miss., who in his day and general county. Miss. Virginia.

THIRD CLASS.

SHOT A MAN A MINUTE

WAS JACKSON'S SCOUT.

Stated briefly, Fontaine's war record was this: He began as secut and courier for General Stonowall Jackson. He served in the same capacity with Generals Stuart and Johnson, and briefly with Lee. He took part in twenty-seven pitched battles, fifty-seven skirmishes, and over a hundred individual skirmishes, in which blood was shed. Although he was but a private in the ranks he was once entrusted with a carte blanche order on the Treasury of the Confederate States. He was known in all branches of the Confederate service as the best marksman with rifle or revolver in either army. He was wounded skty-seven times, and thirteen times his lungs were plerced. Five times in the course of the war he was reported in the dispatches and dead. On two occasions he was able, with the aid of mirrors, to look into apertures in his flesh, and watch the beatings of his own heart. These statements might appear fabulous and altogether incredible, but for the fact that the man is well known by all the veterans in these parts, whe felly severed for all these details, and WAS JACKSON'S SCOUT. known by all the voterans in these parts, who fully worch for all these details, and aver, further that if Fontaine were not so modest his own recital of his career of a Dispatch reporter to meet him while in our midst. He is of average stature, wears a soft felt white hat a dark gray Prince Albert coat and has a gen-tle, kindly expression, and a clear, gray eye, under heavy overhanging brows.

of a Dispatch reporter to meet him while in our midst. He is of average staturs, wears a soft felt white hat a dark gray Prince Albert coat, and hes a gentle, kindly expression, and a clear, gray eye, under heavy overhanging brows.

RELATES HIS EXPERIENCE.

In a conversation with him, the reporter remarked that I have seen a letter in the Scimitar, of Memphis, Tenn., in which it is said that you had killed sixty men in an hour. Will you relate to me something about this—how, when, and where it occurred?

He, good-humoredly, replied: "It cocurred at Waterloo Bridge, just above Warrenton Springs, in Virginia, in August, 1822, just as Stonewall Jackson was flanking Pope prior to the second hattle of Manassas. I had been sent across the river early in the merning to ascertain, if possible, what Yankes corps was in front of ug. I captured a member of the litth Pennsylvania Regiment, and a member of Pursell's Maryland Legion, a part of the Yankee Provost Guard, and released a member of the Pirst Maryland Regiment, Confederate States army, who was a prisoner. I recrossed the river with my prisoners, and delivered them to our Provost Guard, and from the prisoners General Jackson got the desired information. Quite heavy firing was going on at the bridge.

and from the prisoners General Jackson got the desired information. Quite heavy firing was going on at the bridge.

"There was a long frame house, with a cellar under it, and our sharp-shooters had possession of it, and the "Yanks" were pouring a heavy fire into it from the opposite side of the river, just below the bridge. While this fire was going on General Jackson sent me with a dispatch to General A. P. Hill, When I returned I found the General sitting near a large fallen brick column of an old residence that had been destroyed by fire prior to the opening of the war.

that had been destroyed by fire prior to the opening of the war.

"There were several columns still stand-ing, and I got down, and stood near one. While standing near this spot a battery on the opposite side of the river opened upon our men, who were in the valley near the bridge.

"I watchel several shots, and asked the General if I could try my hand at them. He said ha had no objection. I shot

General if I could try my hand at them. He said he had no objection. I shot from the column near where I was stand-ing, resting my rifle on the top of my crutches, which I leaned against the column.

"Many of the staff officers stood by, and watched the shots. I would call No. 1, at gun No. 1, then No. 1 at gun No. 2, and so on, until I had fired about twenty rounds, hitting my man every time. When General Lee rode up, and I quit shooting, General Jackson told Lee that they were just watching my skill with the rifle, and that I had fired about twenty shots without a miss.

skill with the rifle, and that I had fired about twenty shots without a miss.

"General Lee gianced at his watch, and expressed a desire to witness it himself. I was then introduced to him, and again opened fire on the battery, and continued to exhibit the same skill. After I had exhausted the last round of sixty that I began with I told them that I would have to quit, as I was out of ammunition. The General looked at his watch, and remarked that 'this was wonderful.' Sixty shots without a miss, and not over tion. The General looked at his watch, and remarked that 'his was wonderful.' Sixty shots without a miss, and not over an hour in doing it. He then asked me if my conscience did not trouble me. I asked. For what, General? He replied, 'For chooting so many of those people.' I asked him if he had ever killed a rattle-snake. He said, 'Yes.' I then asked if his conscience hurt him when he did so. 'I cannot say it did,' he raplied. I then said, 'General, I shoot at Yankess from the same principle that you would at a snake. I entired for that purpose, and I do it from a sense of duty.' He then pulled out his dispatch-book, and wrote what I thought was a dispatch, but, not folding it, he handed what he had written to me. As I took the paper, I asked. 'Who will I show it to, General? With that soft, gentle look, helf smiling, he said, 'Ehow it to posterity.' I folded the paper carefully, and from that day it has been a sacred keepske, and was never exhibited to any ode save the members of my own family; and the fact of my having it was not known until it was brought cut in the Hamilton and Gaubrill trial at Brandon, Miss., in 1 when I had to shop it."

A SPY IN DISGUISE.

SHOTA MAN A MINUTE

The Maryellous Experience of Lamar Fontaine, a Confederate Scoul.

LEE HELD THE WATCH ON HIM. He Fired Shot After Shot During the Time, and Never Failed to Hit His Man—Was Wounded O'er and O'es.

Among the veterans in Richmond to-day is one of the most unique characters in the history of the Confederacy. He is Lamar Fontaine, of Lyon, Coahoma county, Miss, who in his day and geometric was perhaps the most destructive and sanguinary warrior, single handed, that the world ever saw, and who in his declinity years devotes himself to the muses and from time to time contributions to the daily and periodical pressilterary articles of such merit as no one would credit to a man who carries the scars of sixty-seven buillets and in assian so many fellow-creatures that he cannot make even an approximate estimate of the number thereof.

The Marquis of Lothian, in his his stery of the war of secession, published several years ago, being conversant with many incidents in the life of Fontaine, says in effect that none of the historical or traditional heroes of the chivalrio Middle Ages, no soldier the historical or traditional heroes of the chivalrio Middle Ages, no soldier the world has ever known whose deeds of valor have come down in story, song, or fable, can hold a place alongside this man in the qualities of bravery, persevance or devotion to duty; and the Marquis laments that the Confederate States produced no peat or biographer capable of embalming the memory of this mineteenth-century surior.

WAS JACKSON'S SCOUT.

Brated briefly, Fontaine's war record was this; He begang as secout and courier with this man the qualities of bravery, persevance or devotion to duty; and the Marquis laments that the Confederate States produced no peat or biographer capable of embalming the memory of this mineteenth-century surior.

WAS JACKSON'S SCOUT.

Brated briefly, Fontaine's war record was this; He begang as secout and courier.

WAS JACKSON'S SCOUT.

AN EXCITING ADVENTURE.

It was while coming out of Vicksburg that he met with his most exciting adventure, and his relation of it sounds marvellous. He floated down the fiver at night to a point some eighteen miles below Vicksburg, and, landing, he procured a horse, and, riding in the direction of Jackson, he had to cross the Big Black river. Every ford and ferry on the same was closely guarded by the Faderals, and he rode into the guard at one of these ferries, and they ambureaded him; and, as he rode into their midst he was confronted by a circle of 150 Yankees, who fired a volley at him, the farthest shot being not more than forty yards.

He killed the first Yank that halted him, and, though hit in twenty-seven places, his right arm and right leg both shattered, he charged through this cordon of men, killing two, who caught at his bridle-reins, and shooting another close by. He made his escape, and for several hundred yards his horse deshed on with him, then fell upon him, pinning him to the earth, and it took a fearful struggle in his wounded condition to free himself.

struggle in his wounded condition to free himself.

The Federals, thinking from the way he who fully voich for all these details, and aver, further that if Fontaine were not so modest his own recital of his career would seem even more remarkable.

GOOD SOUTHERN STOCK.

Lamar Fontaine is of the same family as Senator and Associate-Justice Lamar, who died a few years ago, while occupying a seat on the Supreme Bench. He is also a kinsman of Commodore Mathew Fontaine Maury, who mapped the pathways of the cean, and gave the world the grandest work of the century—"The Physical Geography of the Sea."

He is also one of the nearest descendants of the immortal Patrick Henry now living, and also of the Winstons, the Dabneys, the Lewiscs, the Spotawoods, the Dandridges, and many more of the best families of Virginia, who have aided in making her name great in the annual of our country.

He is with us now attending the sixth annual reunion of the Confederate veterans in this city, and it was the fortune of a Dispatch reporter to meet him while in our mildst. He is of average stature, wears a soft tolt white hat a dark gray Prince Albert coat and has a gentle kindly expression, and a clear, gray rince Albert coat and has a gentle kindly expression, and a clear, gray rince Albert coat and has a gentle kindly expression, and a clear, gray rince Albert coat and has a gentle kindly expression, and a clear, gray ron, of New Oricans, La.; A. E. Ashury of Higginsville, Mo.; John O. Casler, of Oklahema; General J. B. Briggs, of Russellville, Ky.; D. M. Halley, of Savanna, L. T.; William A. Gordon, of Washington, D. C.; B. H. Tengue, of Aiken, S. C. George D. Johnston, of Tuscaloosa, Ala. John Gill, of Baltimore; Md.; A. G. Dickinson, of New York; General W. G. Shipe ley, of Florida, and Colonel John B. Cary, of Virginia.

General W. H. Jackson was elected temporary chairman, and a committee was appointed, consisting of the Chairman and Messrs. Johnston, Briggs, and Teague, who are to meet next Monday at 11 A. M. at the Hoffman House, in New York, to confer with Mr. Charles Broadway Rouss as to the scope of his plans. It was also decided that any other member of the board who happened to be in New York at that time might attend the conference. General W. G. Shipley, of Fiorida, moved that the board meet to-day for permanent organization, but the motion was lost, inasmuch as the permanent organization can only be effected after the charter has been procured.

On motion of Colonal Chalaron it was decided that the next meeting be held at Chair about the middle of the month. It was also decided that a sub-committee, which is to take the necessary staps as to the obtaining of a charter, should meet the same evening at the room of Adjutant-General George Moorman, at the Jefferson Hotel. This committee is to report to the beard this morning at 18 o'clock in General Jackson's room.

Colonel A. G. Dickinson, of New York, presented his credentials as representative of Mr. Charles Broadway Rouss, and he was enrolled as a member of the Board of Trustees.

The board then adjourned, with the understanding that should it be possible to Trustees.

The board then adjourned, with the understanding that should it be possible to secure a charter up to that time, then the permanent organization is to take place permanent organization is to take place this morning.

After adjournment Colonel Dickinson explained that while the Confederate veterans of New York did not belong to the United Confederate Veterans, yet they had a very fine burying ground, with a handsome monument and a mortuary fund had been oreated, from which the expenses of burying dead Confederate veterans were defrayed.

if Remote from Medical Help, doubly essential is it that you abould be provided with some reliable family medicine. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the best of its class, remedying thoroughly, as it does, such common aliments as indigestion, constipation, and billousness, and affording safe and speedy help in malarial cases, rheumatism, and inactivity of the kidneys.

Orders for printing sent to the Dispatch Company will be given prompt attention, and the style of work and prices will be sure to piezas 2006.

THE MONUMENT TO GENERAL ROBERT E. LEE.

When he had handed to the young men of the Virginia Military Institute their sheepskins, General Gordon said: 10. J. L. Dillard, Virginia, 201.66, J. L. Dinard, Virginia, 201.55.
 H. R. Winston, Virginia, 201.32.
 H. G. Shirley, West Virginia, 202.00.
 F. G. Roche, Virginia, 198.22.
 J. Janney, Virginia, 198.25.
 G. M. Brooke, Virginia, 197.76.
 W. W. Holt, Virginia, 196.60.
 J. J. Cooke, Virginia, 197.55. sheepskins, General Gordon said:

"Now, gentlemen of the Virginia Military Institute, I have had conferred upon me the great honor of being permitted to act as the organ of this great institution for this occasion. (Applause.) I am delighted to learn that its influence is not confined solely to Virginia, but that it is from ocean to ocean. The lessons that you are learning are to be carried as seeds and planted in the soil of every State, it this Lindon. (Cheers.) I am

State in this Union. (Cheers.) Inot going to detain you to make a sp not going to detain you to make a speech. You have speeches made to you every hour of your lives by the memories which come down to you from the past of the great institution of which you are pupils. (Applause.) Its leading men are exemplars worthy of your imitation. Those who have passed from the active walks and the academic shades of Lexington are your exemplars. In the silence of his dying chamber lies one of the heroes of that institution, who, like a martyred son, has borne in all these years since the great struggle the wounds from which he has been dying, dying.

from which he has been dying, dying, and dying, with faith in his God and Jesus Christ. I refer to my fitend and your friend—that splendid soldier, Gene-

JACKSON AS A MODEL

"If I wanted to conjure up in your hearts everything that was great in sol-dier, great in citizenship, great in Chris-tian life, I have only to mention the one name—the name of Stonewall Jackson.

ral Colston. (Cheers.)

17. J. Cooke, Virginia, 191.75.
18. R. H. Peatross, Virginia, 190.75.
19. B. P. Harrison, Virginia, 186.83.
20. J. R. Hicks, Virginia, 185.55.
21. C. E. Michel, Missouri, 184.79.
22. C. C. Dickinson, West Virginia, 184.44.

R. W. Williams, Virginia, 181.11.
 J. P. Orme, Georgia, 178.18.
 W. H. Peck, Virginia, 177.75.
 J. V. Bickford, Virginia, 164.53.
 F. W. Griffin, Virginia, 164.86.
 N. S., E. G. Hinton, Virginia.

DISTINGUISHED GRADUATES. 1. R. S. Spilman, Virginia, E. B. Frain, Illinois.
 R. M. Morgan, Virginia.
 J. K. Sheppard, North Carolina.

GRADUATES IN ENGINEERING COURSE. R. M. Morgan, Virginia.
 H. F. Jeffress, Virginia.

2. H. F. Jeffress, Virginia.
3. J. Janney, Virginia.
4. J. K. Sheppard, North Carolina.
5. H. P. Hinton, Virginia.
6. W. S. Hutton, Maryland.
7. R. F. Wells, Virginia.
8. W. W. Holt, Virginia.
9. H. G. Shirley, West Virginia.
10. F. G. Roche, Virginia.
11. J. Cooke, Virginia.
12. J. L. Dillard, Virginia.
13. W. H. Peck, Virginia.

J. L. Dillard, Virginia.
 W. H. Peck, Virginia.
 J. R. Hicks, Virginia.
 R. W. Peatross, Virginia.
 C. E. Michel, Missouri.
 B. P. Harrison, Virginia.
 R. H. Williams, Virginia.
 F. W. Griffin, Virginia.
 S. E. C. Hinton, Virginia.

DISTINGUISHED IN ENGINEERING COURSE. 1. R. M. Morgan, Virginia.
2. H. F. Jeffress, Virginia.
3. J. Janney, Virginia.
4. J. K. Sheppard, North Carolina.
5. H. R. Hinton, Virginia.
GRADUATES IN CHEMISTRY COURSE.

R. S. Spillman, Virginia.
 C. C. Dickinson, West Virginia.
 J. P. Orme, Georgia.
 J. V. Bickford, Virginia.

CHEMISTRY DISTINGUISHED COURSE. 1. R. S. Spilman, Virginia, GRADUATES IN GENERAL COURSE. 1. E. B. Frain, Illinois. 2 T. W. Daniel, Virginia, 141.11

2. R. S. Spilman, Virginia; 4, P. B. Locker, Virginia; 5, E. B. Frain, Illinois. Physics—I, E. B. Frain, Illinois, and R. M. Morgan, Virginia; 2, R. S. Spilman, Virginia, and W. S. Hutton, Maryland. Chemistry, General—I, R. S. Spilman, Virginia; 2, E. B. Frain, Illinois. Latin—I, R. S. Spilman, Virginia. English—I, R. S. Spilman, Virginia; 2, E. B. Frain, Illinois; 3, R. M. Morgan, Virginia; 4, T. W. Daniel, Virginia; 4, T. W. Daniel, Virginia; Erench—I, R. S. Spilman, Virginia; 2, E. B. Frain, Illinois; 3, R. M. Morgan, Virginia; 2, E. B. Frain, Illinois; 3, R. M. Morgan, Virginia; 2, E. Spilman, Virginia; 2, E.

Drawing-1, J. K. Sheppard, North Card lina; 2, W. W. Holt, Virginia; 3, B. P. Harrison, Virginia. Military Engineering—1, R. S. Spilman, Virginia; 2, E. B. Frain, Illinois; 3, A. D.

Military Engineering—I. K. S. Spania; 2. E. B. Frain, Illinois; 3. A. D. Keen, Virginia; 2. E. B. Frain, Illinois; 3. A. D. Keen, Virginia; 4. E. B. Frain, Illinois; 4. W. S. Hutton, Maryland.
Art of War—I. R. S. Spilman, Virginia; 2. R. M. Morgan, Virginia; 3. E. B. Frain, Illinois; 4. A. D. Keen, Virginia.
United States Drill Regulations—I. J. K. Sheppard, North Carolina; 2. R. S. Spilman, Virginia; 3. R. M. Morgan, Virginia; 4. W. M. Peck, Virginia; 5. A. D. Keen, Virginia.
Ordnance and Gunnery—I. E. B. Frain, Illinois; 2. A. D. Keen, Virginia; 3. R. S. Spilman, Virginia; 6. M. Brooke, Virginia; 5. H. G. Shirley, West Virginia.
Mineralogy—I. R. S. Spilman, Virginia; 2. E. B. Frain, Illinois; 2. A. D. Keen, Virginia.

ginia.

Engineering Course, Higher Mathematics (calculus)—1, J. E. Sheppard, North Carolina.

Analytical Mechanics—1, R. M. Morgan, Virginia, and H. F. Jeffress, Virginia; 2, Virginia, and H. F. Jeffress, Virginia; 2, J. Jannay, Virginia.
Engineering—I, R. M. Morgan, Virginia; 2, H. F. Jeffress, Virginia.
General Course, Analytical Mechanics—I, E. B. Frain, Illinois.
Physics—I, E. B. Frain, Illinois.
Commercial Law and Civil Government—E. B. Frain, Illinois.
Chemical Course, Zoology—I, R. S. Spilman, Virginia.

Chemical Course, 2003gy-L. R. S. Spin-man, Virginia.
Conduct, having no demerit for entire period of cadetship-R. M. Hicks, Vir-ginia; A. D. Keen, Virginia; H. H. Holt, Virginia; R. M. Morgan, Virginia. Having no demerit for the year-J. Jan-ney, Virginia; H. G. Shirley, West Vir-ginia; F. G. Roche, Virginia.

SECOND CLASS. Curriculum Course, United States Drill Regulations—I. A. L. Lincoln, Micsissippi; 2. W. W. Ballard, Virginia; 3. A. M. Shipp, Virginia; 4. M. M. Milia, Virginia; 5. C. R. Harrison, Virginia.

2, R. S. Spilman, Virginia; 4, P. B. Locker, H. S. Estell, Kentucky; 7, C. S. Wil-

H. S. Estell, Kentucky; 7, C. S. Williams, Louisiana.
Drawing—I. A. C. Crump, Virginia; 2, G. H. Barrett, Virginia; 3, C. S. Stratton, Ohio; 4, H. D. Bacon, California.
Latin—I. T. A. Jones, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 2, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 2, G. H. Barrett, Virginia; 3, N. W. Hubard, Virginia; 4, R. C. Marshall, Virginia; 5, J. H. Ward, Virginia; 3, G. H. Barrett, Virginia; 4, C. Marshall, Virginia; 2, T. A. Jones, Virginia; 3, G. H. Barrett, Virginia; 4, W. B. Sayers, Texas; 5, J. D. Taylor, Florida.
Conduct, having no cemerit for the year—J. H. Addison, Virginia; G. H. Barrett, Virginia; A. C. Crump, Virginia; H. G. Ellett, Virginia; A. H. Goddin, Virginia; R. G. Goolsby, Virginia; G. P. Hawes, Virginia; T. A. Jones, Virginia; R. C. Marshall, Virginia; E. H. Marsteller, Virginia; P. H. Montgomery, Virginia; P. Nelson, Virginia; W. B. Sayers, Texas; J. D. Taylor, Florida; C. S. Williams, Louisiana.

FOURTH CLASS.

FOURTH CLASS.

Mathematics—1, K. Payne, Virginia; 2, J. E. Crider, Kentucky; 3, G. H. Derby-shire, Virginia; 4, D. B. Shaver, Virginia; 5, H. L. Shaner, Virginia; 6, M. E. Locke,

5. H. L. Shaner, Virginia; 6, M. E. Locke, Ohlo.
Latin-1, J. E. Crider, Kentucky; 2, G. H. Derbyshire, Virginia.
French-1, Aristides Moreno, South America; 2, M. E. Locke, Ohlo; 3, D. B. Shaver, Virginia; 4, A. A. Hoge, Virginia; 5, D. M. Dockery, Mississippi.
English-1, K. Payne, Virginia; 2, M. E. Larke, Virginia; 3, D. B. Shaver, Virginia; 4, J. E. Crider, Kentucky; 5, G. H. Derbyshire, Virginia, 3, G. W. Pope, New York; 4, H. J. Kremer, Ohlo; 5, M. E. Locke, Ohlo.
Conduct, having no demerit for the year-J. E. Crider, Kentucky; G. H. Derbyshire, Virginia; D. M. Dockery, Mississippi; P. D. Ewing, Pennsylvania; A. A. Hoge, Virginia; R. C. Kent, Virginia; H. J. Kremer, Ohlo; M. E. Locke, Ohlo; J. Marthall, Virginia; R. Milles, Virginia; A. Aristides Morgao, South America; K. Payne, Virginia; D. B. Shaver, Virginia; H. L. Zimmer, Virginia.

For Over Fifty Years

Mrs. Winslow's Southing Syrup has been used for children teething. It southes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind-colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoss; 25 cents a bot-